The curious case of the out-of-order lift

Ramadan in summers is tough on us as it is. Waking up for Sehri in the earliest possible hours of the day and surviving till dusk in the midst of a summer solstice isn't for the faint-hearted. But to make matters more trying, the lift in the office has gone out of order, testing our patience as well as our commitment to work. Take heart dear colleagues, it will soon be over. And who knows, it might just be the cardio-workout we all were putting off for the entire year wink wink

Growww drilling team

Team MOL Pakistan has done it again! Shakeel Bashir and Muhammad Wasim Anwar from the drilling department have made us all very proud by bagging the third position in the Group Growww Team Task Competition (TCC) held in Százhalombatta this month. Congratulations to these bright gentlemen; they have made us all proud.

Ramadan Revitalization Program

In continuation of its commitment to strengthen employee motivation, Ramadan Revitalization Program has been initiated by HR at MOL Pakistan, which has been apportioned to 3 sessions. These sessions represent three key factors essential to surviving the workplace during Ramazan: tolerance, listening and stress management. We're sure everyone has found these sessions happening and the tips offered therein valuable and helpful.

AFTER 350,000 LAYOFFS OIL COMPANIES NOW FACE WORKER SHORTAGES

With mounting tensions in the oil and gas industry, news has surfaced that might assuage qualms about the ever-unpredictable oil and gas industry. As per articles by Reuters and USA Today, things might take a turn for the better, as far as future employment prospects are concerned. As thousands of out-of-work oil and gas veterans find other jobs, there could be a shortage of skilled workers in the industry, which of course translates into more jobs in the future. Not all hope is lost, after all.

Wellhead ideas Certificate Distribution Ceremony

The Well Head Idea Program Wave-1 came to a close with a prize distribution ceremony held during the last week of May. After a grueling series of presentations by shortlisted teams, winners were announced for the following three categories: Technology Related Ideas with High Revenue, Safety and Efficiency Improvement Framework, and Good Practice Implementation. On behalf of MOL Pakistan, we congratulate all the winners and applaud them on their brilliant contributions

New discoveries

This month has been the bearer of good news for MOL Pakistan, with two successive discoveries in Makori Deep and Tolanj West in TAL Block. These discoveries add to a total of 13 discoveries that have been made since MOL started its operations in Pakistan in 1999. Needless to say, such a feat would have been impossible without the tireless effort and countless hours that our colleagues have put into it. We are indeed overwhelmed and extremely proud of this remarkable achievement.
